PAST AND PRESENT CONTRASTED.

The advent of the new year suggested to me the idea of noting down a few of the material indications of the progress made by the world since the beginning of the century, and we speedily made out a list of things which are so familiar to us that we have not only ceased to think of them as novelties, but very few of us can even fancy the world going along without them, though our grandfathers never heard of them.

The material progress made within the last century is, to be sure, a trite subject, but then, we doubt whether, in spite of all that has been said upon it, many people have sufficient acquaintance with the details not to be startled by seeing them grouped together. A man need not be very old to remember the time when there were no railroads, no locomotives, no steamships, no telegraphs, no newspapers, no printing presses, no sewing machines, no reaping machines, no postage stamps, no envelopes, no pens of steel or gold; when there was no homeopathy, no mesmerism, no phrenology, no spiritualism, no photography, no point of view, no anastatic printing, or etching on stone, no lithography, and hardly a decent wood engraving; when omnibuses and street cars were not dreamed of; when dull street lamps lit with whale oil were a luxury, and the Metropolitan Police an Utopian vision; when there was no unbecoming Christianity, no Emerson or Parker, no slavery abolition, no Garrison or Phillips; when, even Wordsworth was hardly known; when there were no public schools, no medical departments in science in colleges, no gymnastics, no art unions, no good music schools, no houses of employment and reformation for young scoundrels; and generally very little hope for reform in old or young scoundrels.

In those days people drank green tea and ate heavy suppers, and went to bed with warming-pans and night caps, and slept on feather beds with bed curtains round them, and dreaded the fresh air in their rooms as much as sensible folks now dread to be without it. And yet, in the night, they got up and looked out and groined about in the dark, and procured a light with much difficulty, with flint and steel and tinder box, and unpleasant snuff match.

And went to their medicine chests and took salicylate and blue pills, and Peruvian bark, and salts and emetics, and juleps and cathartics, and on these days, the fine gentlemen tipped old Jimmie and biter in the morning, and lawyers took their clients to the side board for a dram, while the fine ladies lounged on sofas reading Byron, and Moore, and Scott's novels, and these were done in the night, and wore thin shoes, and laced themselves into feminine wrings in the entries, filled with water, and when a fire broke out, every citizen was a fireman. In those days, gentlemen chewed tobacco, indifferent for their expectorated, and ladies cleaned their teeth with pins and soap, and wore thin shoes, and laced themselves into feminine wrings in the entries, filled with water, and when a fire broke out, every citizen was a fireman.

A STORY OF REAL LIFE.

"What do you mean by such carelessness?" exclaimed John Doring to his son William, a lad of twelve years. "Take that!" he said, striking him a heavy blow on the side of the head; "and that, and that!" repeating the blow as he spoke, the last of which knocked the boy over a plow that was standing by his side. "Get up and go into the house," continued his father, "and see if you can't keep out of mischief for awhile, and stop that crying; or I'll give you something to cry for."

The boy started for the house, struggling to suppress his sobs as he went. "It is astonishing," said Doring, addressing a neighbor named Hanford, who was near by a barn and of course had been heard all that had passed, "how troublesome boys are. Just see these oats that I've got to pick up, that boy's carelessness; and he pointed to a measure of oats which William had accidentally overturned."

"And it was for that trifling that you assaulted your child, and knocked him down?" replied Mr. Hanford in a scornful tone.

"Do you think a father has a right to punish his child?" asked Mr. Doring.

"Assaulted my child and knocked him down? Why what do you mean, neighbor Hanford?"

"Just what I say. Did you not knock the child over the plow?"

"Why, no, no. He tripped and tumbled over it," doggedly replied Doring. "Do you against parental authority? Haven't I a right to punish my own children?"

"Certainly you have," replied Mr. Hanford in a proper manner and spirit, but not otherwise.

"One day Charles offered me his love, and I refused him; and he has a right to revenge himself upon his child?"

"Of course not; who is talking about revenge?"

"Well, my friend Doring, let me ask you another question; for what reason should a child be punished?"

"Why to make it better, and to do it good," quickly answered Doring.

"And now my kind friend," kindly continued Hanford, "do you suppose your treatment to Charles was a few months ago, did him any good or has increased his respect and affection toward you?"

"The boy, I venture to say, is utterly unconscious of having done any wrong, and yet you suddenly assaulted him with anger and violence and gave him a beating that no parent or guardian could justify without having the outrage inquired into by a legislative committee. But let me tell you a story. You know my son Charles?"

"The one that is preaching in —?"

"Yes, and you have probably noticed that he is a good boy."

"I have noticed it," said Doring, "and asked him how it happened, and he told me he got hurt when a boy."

"Yes," replied Mr. Hanford, with emotion. "The dear boy never could be made to say that it was his father's brutality. But listen, he continued, as he saw that Doring was about to speak."

DEATH OF DANIEL S. DICKINSON.—The death of this statesman and patriot, previously reported by telegraph, is confirmed by the news received overland. He died the 24 of April. The Tribune gives the following account of his sickness and sudden death:

Mr. Dickinson was taken sick on Monday afternoon, having been engaged during the day in the trial of the case of the steamship Meteor. Nothing alarming in his symptoms appeared until Thursday morning about 11 o'clock, when they became very serious. When his son-in-law, Mr. Courtney, left his house on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, Mr. Dickinson was up and shaving. He told him that he had ordered his breakfast and felt much better, saying, in his joking way, to Mr. Courtney, "You can run the office today; I shall be all right to-morrow." But he gradually grew worse until 8:30 o'clock in the evening, when he died. His disease was strangulated hernia. He leaves a widow and two daughters. He had always enjoyed excellent health, and was hardly ever sick in his life, except last summer, when he was attacked by typhoid fever. Mr. D. was born in Goshen, Connecticut, September 11, 1800, and was consequently nearly 66 years of age. When he was six years of age the family removed to New York, and settled in the valley of the Chenango. He was admitted to the bar in Chenango county in 1826, and ten years later was chosen a member of the State Senate from the Sixth District. He was then an ardent member of the Democratic party, and continued in the service of the State four years. He was elected Lieutenant Governor in 1842, and in December, 1844, was appointed United States Senator, which seat he continued to hold until March, 1851. He shortly afterward retired to his rural home at Binghamton, and devoted himself to the practice of his profession until called upon to fill the United States District Attorneyship.

A TRAGEDY IN MISSISSIPPI.—We learn from a gentleman just from Pontotoc county, Miss., the scene of the occurrence of a tragedy which occurred there last Thursday evening. Our informant says that the safety and quiet of the citizens in that locality have been interfered with, for some time past, by the lawless doings of a small gang of men, headed by a desperate villain named McDonald. On the evening mentioned above, about eight o'clock, McDonald, and three of his clan, went to the house of a highly respectable old farmer, whose name is given as King, for the purpose of robbing him of a considerable amount of money which it was thought he had at his residence. Mr. King resisted the demands of the robbers, and his daughter severely over his valuables and money, when the latter made a violent assault upon him and his daughter, who seem to have been all of the family at home that evening. After a desperate resistance, Mr. King was shot dead at the hands of some of the robbers, and his daughter severely pierced through the chest, which will, if not already, prove fatal. The noise of the melee reached the ears of some of the neighbors, who proceeded to Mr. King's premises as fast as possible, armed with guns. They rapidly made approach, after the perpetration of the terrible crime, brought them upon McDonald and his band before they had found the treasure which had been the incentive to the bloody deed. The robbers tried to escape, but two of them were killed, and one of his desperadoes captured, after being killed to the earth with the butt of a gun. Great excitement prevails in the county, on account of the murder of Mr. King, and the feudish shooting of his daughter.

PARTICULARS OF SIMPSON'S DEATH.—We have already mentioned Edward, better known as Sandy Simpson, who was well to do, and the owner of a store on the Stockton road, near Amador Valley, was foully murdered by two men on Friday morning, the 12th inst., as it is supposed, for money he had shot him at. It seems that on last Friday evening two men—on a black whistler man, and the other wearing no beard—stopped at Simpson's store and requested something to eat and a night, which was granted them. Next morning, at an early hour, the ruffians attached to the ranch went out to attend to their daily labors. During the day the deceased's brother discovered the body, with a horrible wound on the right side of the head, caused by a rifle shot from the rifle of deceased. The alarm was given, and the soldiers in the valley, from one end to the other, started after the murderers, and are confident of their capture. These affairs are becoming frightfully common in the interior.—San Bee.

SEWING-MACHINES.—Of the many inventions and improvements of sewing-machines, none have so satisfactorily stood the test of time and service as Grover & Baker's. They have taken the highest premiums at the recent State Fairs of fifteen States; they have, moreover, received the warmest encomiums from all persons who have ever used the machinery. Our informant has had opportunities to compare the different styles of machines, generally prefer Grover & Baker's to any other. They do the work neatly and well, do not get out of order, and are readily adapted to any kind of sewing. We would advise our readers, who are in want of a sewing-machine, to call at Grover & Baker's, Brooklyn Standard.

NEW STAMP.—Postmaster General Dennison is having printed a postage stamp, of the denomination of fifteen cents, which will soon be ready for issue. A stamp of this price, it was found, was greatly needed for the payment of postage on quarter-cent letters for France. On the face of the stamp is a finely executed portrait of Abraham Lincoln.

SENATOR JIM LANE.—At a meeting held in Lawrence, Kan., 14th ult., a resolution was adopted severely censuring United States Senator Jim Lane for his vote against the Civil Rights Bill.

UNITED STATES CADET.—Congressman Higby has procured the appointment of Edmond Munroe Cobb, son of General Cobb, of Stockton, as a Cadet at West Point.

IT is reported that a man was stopped near Lowell Hill on Wednesday last by a highwayman and robbed of sixty dollars.

HOSTETTER'S

STOMACH BITTERS!

A PURE AND POWERFUL TONIC,

CORRECTIVE AND ALTERNATIVE.

—OF—

Wonderful Efficacy in Diseases of the STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.

Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Cold, Intermittent Fever, Cramps, Spasms, and all Complaints of either Sex, whether arising from Bilious Weakness, whether inherent in the system, or produced by special causes.

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESALE.

General and restorative in its nature, enters into the system by the stomach, and its action is immediately felt in the system. It is a combination of the extracts of balsamic herbs and plants, with the mildest and purest of all diffusive stimulants.

As a General Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produces effects which cannot be experienced or witnessed by any other medicine. It cures all cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay and Debility, and Decayed and aged persons, it excites an excellent appetite, and in the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delicious stimulant. When the powers of nature are exhausted it operates to reinforce and re-establish them.

The weak Stomach is rapidly invigorated and the appetite restored by this agreeable Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of DYSPEPSIA, and in less common cases of INDIGESTION. Acting as a gentle and pleasant aperient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretory organs.

Persons of feeble habits, liable to Nervous Attacks, Loss of Sleep and Fits of Bitterness, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is most conclusive and from both sexes.

The agency of BILIOUS COLIC is immediately assuaged by a single dose of the stimulant, and by occasionally resorting to it, the return of the complaint may be prevented.

Last, though not least, it is the ONLY SAFE STIMULANT, being manufactured from sound and innocuous ingredients, and containing no element of poison or excitement of any kind.

Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and Storekeepers every where, and by

HOSTETTER, DEAN & SMITH,

Wholesale Agents, San Francisco.

MEDICAL ADVICE.—Dr. Wm. K. Donnan's Medical and Surgical Institute is becoming a place of resort to the well-to-do of the State and health of our citizens; and his reputation spreading rapidly, although it may excite surprise, it is but the signal of a new era, and follows as the natural result of such a cause. We personally acquainted with gentlemen who had suffered for years under chronic diseases, and who had taken advantage of every available means that promised relief, but without success, until they called upon Dr. Doherty, who, in an incredibly short space of time, has given them entire relief. It is gratifying to announce this fact, because the Dr. is a gentleman who seeks, not by deception of others, to establish his reputation or rule of another's fame. The Doctor conducts his own Institute in such a manner as to be gratifying to all his patients. He examines, advises, and recommends for treatment, and the patient, after hearing his terms of treatment, can accept or reject at pleasure. In no case does the Doctor make a charge unless he effects a cure. This is able to do, because he feels the confidence which long experience has given him, and the conviction which only comes from chronic disease, would well to consult the Doctor; at all events, it can do no harm, as for consultation he asks no fee; nor does he instist on obedience to his advice unless the patient places himself
